

Additional resources for the teacher

Some extra activities can enrich the scenario:

- Children divided into groups can create lists of items (e.g., objects in the classroom) with each color in French using Word or Excel, Windows software.
- We can also suggest students create a scrapbook dedicated to Claude Monet, where the first part contains his biography and the second part showcases his major works along with a brief description of his pioneering artistic style.

Activities like those proposed in this scenario can inspire a series of interesting activities in French class in elementary school. Undoubtedly, these activities not only facilitate the learning process but also make it particularly engaging, motivating, and fun for young students who are learning to follow constructive and effective learning strategies with the help of technology, in order to reach the desired point of "learning how to learn."
